DINING ROOM & FUNCTIONS

Our largest room, the Club Room, is able to seat up to 300 people for dinner or lunch. It has proved ideal for many weddings and business dinners. The room can also be sectioned off to provide an intimate area for 50 to 100.

If however you are more interested in a drinks party or conference, we can cater up to 500.

The Committee Room is an elegant alternative to the Dining Room if you are a small group who would like privacy. (Dinners for 20 or drinks for 40). And don't forget that the Card Room is a great meeting place for groups from 2 to 12.

All menus are designed to your personal taste by our Executive Chef, and the Club has a very good wine list to compliment any menu.

We can take all the worry and stress away from you and organise as much or as little as you would like (the only thing we can not supply is the wedding dress).

STAFF CHANGES

Function Supervisor, Rachel Laverty, has been promoted to Dining Room Manager to replace Carolyn Birley and Pool Attendant Jeremy Uther has also been promoted to the position of Assistant Dining Room Manager.

A MESSAGE FROM THE EPICUREANS

Wine is man's oldest documented medicine. The oldest known medical handbook, a Sumerian pharmacopoeia written on a clay tablet dated around 2200BC, recommended the use of wine with various drugs as treatments for ailments such as sweet wine with honey to treat cough.

Wine was one of the main medicines of the ancient Greeks. Hippocrates (450-370BC) used wine extensively "as a wound dressing, as a nourishing dietary beverage, as a cooling agent for fever, as a purgative and as a diuretic".

Dioscorides, a Greek army surgeon under Nero, was the founder of "Materia Medica" or the study of medical substances as an applied science. He used wine in many conditions and a particular type was always specified.

In medieval times healing was undertaken mainly by monks. Wine was used as a medicine by itself or mixed with other compounds to make a palatable concoction out of foul tasting substances. Many of the liqueurs used today owe their pedigree to medicines used in the dark ages by monks.

After the Middle Ages wine was prescribed constantly - "the astringent red wines for diarrhoea, the white wines as diuretics, port in acute fevers and for anaemia, claret and burgundy for anorexia, champagne for nausea and catarrhal conditions and port, sherry and madeira in convalescence. (Burke)

Modern research has confirmed the many health benefits of moderate wine drinking (except for people with a pre-existing disease which could be adversely affected by alcohol).
